The trademark is a motion trademark consisting of 11 figures showing the state of change of the mark over time. The number in the lower right of each figure represents the order of the figures and is not a part of the trademark. As shown in Figure 1, the trademark begins with two identical overlapping oblong shapes. These two shapes gradually shrink while increasing their overlapping area, eventually forming a single circle as shown in Figure 4. This circle descends along an arc-shaped trajectory, splitting into two circles as shown in Figure 8. These two circles then overlap and transform into oblong shapes as shown in Figure 9, returning to the initial state (the shape shown in Figure 1) as shown in Figure 11. This entire motion trademark lasts approximately 2 seconds.
